Shows How False Are Claims Put Forward By McCandless--Splendid Meeting In Hilo

McCandless has claimed that the provisions of the land law which provides for the opening of lands on the application of twenty-five people, was inserted there by Candler, and that the Democrats had it passed by their influence.
That is not true.
McCandless in his bill and before the committee never made any such statement, and the bill contains no such provision. What he said is false, because I was there and I know what was done. This amendment was put by myself in caucus which consisted of four Republicans and two Democrats, the latter being Candler and Houston. I asked for the amendment and it was passed by the four Republicans. I asked Candler and Houston if they were going to urge their bill and they said 'No.' They said too that they never had any intention of urging it. Houston said he did not like the bill. Delegate Kuhio in his Hilo speech.

The meeting took place last Wednesday evening in the armory, which had been exceedingly well decorated by the artistic hand of John Herring. The great hall was filled with an interested audience, many being obliged to stand. A pleasing feature was the music furnished by the Ernest Kaul glee club, as well as by the local talent. The assembly was quiet and orderly throughout, and was on the whole a credit to the Republican party. A large platform had been erected in the middle of the Wainaku side of the hall, and here were seated the of his very deepest well.

BIG BUILDING OPERATIONS FOR OCTOBER—SUGAR SLUMP
WON'T STOP CONSTRUCTION

Big building operations, contemplated for Honolulu in the immediate future, are regarded by business men, architects and contractors as sufficient proof that there will be no business slump this winter. The magnitude of the operations and the fact that home-building is going steadily forward are taken as evidence that the decline of sugar prices need not be considered as indicating the general tone of industry.
Announcements of new buildings made today show that during October a lot of construction work will be going on, affording employment

The firmer tone apparent in the stock market yesterday continued today. A steady demand for Oahu at 29.25, where that security closed yesterday, brought the stock up this morning point by point, until the latest reports were 30.12 1/2, with brisk trading still going on.
Oahu furnished practically all the activity on brokers' row today, the sales aggregating 330 shares, the largest block of which was 120 at 29.37 1/2. There was a little demand for Ewa at a slightly lower price than yesterday, and some Olan was transferred.

HAD FRIENDS IN TIMES EXPLOSION

Elmer M. Cheatham of B. F. Ehlers & Co. has two intimate friends who were connected with the mechanical department of the Los Angeles Times, and he sent a cable query this morning asking as to their fate. Mr. Cheatham says that the portion of the Times building in which the typesetting machines were located and where the explosion of last evening took place was a decidedly flimsy affair with stairways on the outside somewhat after the style of local shacks of the Oriental quarter. The building where the main offices are located was a modern structure.

LITTLE GIRL IS RUN OVER

This morning at eleven o'clock a small Japanese girl of seven years of age, met with a painful accident in front of the Wells Fargo office on King street. The child was barefooted and, in endeavoring to cross the street in front of a wagon belonging to Hackfeld & Co., slipped and managed to get one of her feet under the wheels. The child pulled her foot back quickly but one of her toes was torn off, and the other toes bruised. The police were informed of the matter and the child was quickly attended to and taken to the station house, where she gave her name as Hume. The driver of the wagon will be called upon to explain how it happened that the little girl was injured.

DYNAMITE CRIME
STIRS ACTION
TO ARREST
FIENDS

(Associated Press Cable.)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—That dynamite, placed with murderous intent, caused the horrible explosion at Los Angeles early this morning, is now practically certain, from later developments. The assertion of the management of the Los Angeles Times that the explosion in the building was caused by the animosity of labor agitators, was borne out today, when an infernal machine was found at the residence of Gen. Harrison Grey Otis, owner of the Times.
The infernal machine when hurled across the street exploded with great violence. A bomb containing fifteen sticks of dynamite was found today in the residence of Secretary Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' Association, which has opposed the labor union agitators.
With four known dead thirteen more dead believed to be in the ruins and many injured as a result of the explosion, the disaster has assumed such proportions and public feeling against the perpetrators is so aroused that the Los Angeles city council has appropriated $25,000 to aid in running down the dynamiters. This act, at a special meeting, was followed by the Building Trades Council of San Francisco, which has declared that if the explosion is the act of labor union men, they should be searched out and today offered a reward of $7500 for the purpose.
The property loss will run into half a million, and the loss of life will undoubtedly be greater than is ascertainable now.

U. S. IS READY TO DREDGE HARBOR

Extensive Development Plans
Presented By Major
Winslow.

The plans for the extensive dredging operations that are to be undertaken by the Federal government in the harbor of Honolulu have been received by Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell from Major Winslow of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.
The outline of the plans received from the United States Engineer's office shows that the work of dredging the harbor is to be carried on in the most thorough manner possible, and that when the work is completed the harbor can be maintained at a high standard of efficiency for the accommodation of the shipping and the big increase of tonnage that is expected within the course of the next few years.
"Under the plan of dredging that is proposed," stated Campbell this morning, "Honolulu's harbor will be put in fine condition for the accommodation of the big merchant steamships that are increasing in size all the time. The harbor needs deepening in a number of places, and from the plans that have been presented by the United States engineers nothing is to be left undone in the maintenance of the harbor at the highest possible standard of efficiency for the meeting of the future demands of commercial development."

SCHUYLER MAY BE
DEPARTMENT
HEAD

That Col. Walter S. Schuyler, commanding the Fifth Cavalry regiment at Schofield Barracks, is to command the Department of Hawaii when that is created here, is the news that receives confirmation from persons familiar with the situation both at Lihou and in Washington, where department commanders are made and sometimes unmade.
It was stated this morning that Col. Schuyler's name has been favorably received at Washington, and that he will be promoted to a brigadier-generalship and given the command here in a few weeks. If promoted, it will be over the heads of a good many other colonels, but Col. Schuyler, it is believed, has been selected because of his familiarity with the local situation. Secretary of War Dickinson, it is said, favors Col. Schuyler.

UNIFORM BIDS TO BE OPENED

Bids will shortly be closed for the furnishing of uniforms for the goodly army of boy scouts being organized here. Already two well-known merchants have sent to the Coast for samples of cloth for jackets, caps and trousers, and as the contract is a good-sized one there is likely to be lively competition for the job. It is probable that the leggings will be furnished here in Honolulu, according to members of the committee.
Meanwhile the boy-scout movement is growing rapidly. It is expected that between three and four hundred boys will be signed within a short time in Honolulu and vicinity alone. The novelty of the idea has appealed to a lot of Honolulu youngsters, and Dr. Paul Super, who is looking after the plans for enrolling them, will have his hands full.

McCandless Stirs
Kohala Hearts

Spreading Badges And False Promises
Through Hawaii--Crowds Greet
Him And Shout Pololeis

(Special Bulletin Correspondence.)
KOHALA, Hawaii, Sept. 29.—Link McCandless is gaining a political strength here. He is looked upon by the Hawaiians as their "idol." They seem to think that he will be the best man to represent their interests in Congress. H. M. Kanoho, the Cannon Ball of Kohala, is advising the Home Rulers and the Republicans to give their support for McCandless.
The report that Kanoho has been dumped by the Home Rulers in Kohala appears to be not correct. In all the political meetings which he addressed, he was cheered continuously. After the meetings he was greeted by his old Home Rule friends who promised him their support on election day. Without delay, Kanoho asked them to support and vote for McCandless. They agreed to do so.
McCandless and party arrived from Waima today, and in the afternoon he talked at four different political meetings. Senator P. P. Woods and Frank Woods welcomed McCandless. H. M. Kanoho, G. W. Keawekahu, Supervisor Kalaheva and the Bulletin man of the Kohala club. After chatting the politicians got down to business.
Make a Start.
Under the pilotage of Senator Woods, who is working hard for McCandless, the Democratic House and his political advisors wheeled away to Nuhiu, where a large meeting had been arranged. In spite of the Home Rule stronghold, McCandless was greeted with enthusiasm. The other speakers were Kanoho, Keawekahu and Supervisor Kalaheva.
Work Suspended.
During the speeches the roadmen who received their pay that day gathered at the meeting places to hear McCandless talk immigration, anti-foreign laws. The Hawaiians listened to him most attentively. At intervals they cheered him.
Kanoho and Keawekahu also dwelt upon the same subjects that McCandless had already talked about. The Hawaiians shouted at the top of their voices, "Eiaa! Pololei! You are right McCandless!"
Distribution of Badges.
One of the most catching things that McCandless did during his tour of the island was the distribution of campaign badges to the people. He was always ready to jump down from the machine to give his campaign badges to the passers-by. This kind act on his part made a big impression on the people.

HAWAIIAN COFFEE BY SHEER MERIT OPENS UP NEW FIELD
OF SALE IN NEW YORK CITY

Hawaiian coffee by sheer merit has opened up a new territory for itself in the East. The result is a valuable market in New York, a market that Hawaiian coffee-dealers and growers will at once begin to cultivate and develop.
Frank J. Oliver, secretary of the Oliver Brothers Purchasing Company of New York City, has written to E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd., of this city, opening negotiations for freighting Hawaiian coffee to his company, which is a big jobber in many lines. Oliver ascertained that there was a big market for Hawaiian coffee in New York by the simple process of distributing samples to his friends and acquaintances, all of whom were delighted with the flavor and grade.
In his letter to the local firm, Mr. Oliver says:
"New York, Sept. 15, 1910.
Messrs. E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd., Honolulu, T. H.
"Dear Sirs: The writer, in behalf of himself, especially, as well as those to whom we distributed five and ten-pound packages of your best coffee from Honolulu, would say that in every case it has been endorsed as one of the best coffees that have been tasted.
"At my home, where we pay particular attention to coffee and have made more or less of a reputation in the family for the fine coffee we have, it has been considered as good as anything we have ever had, if not a little bit better.
"It appears to be very clear, but rather of a lighter color and grade than we have been obtaining, yet in all cases it has appealed to those who have used the same.
"The fact that one of the writer's neighbors, who is a roaster of coffee for the trade in this district, advised me not to distribute samples of your coffee if I wanted to keep some of my friends, but he has proved to me to be all wrong.
"Can you advise what would be the cost per pound of same at your point or the cost per pound delivered by rail in 100-pound bags? Presumably it would not pay to send on less than 200 or 250-pound bag to cover the minimum rail freight. It would depend how cheaply it could be bought against what we are purchasing for our regular coffee and the advisability of having too much for oneself and would be lost per capita of quality by not being taken care of properly. Yours very truly,
"OLIVER BROTHERS PURCHASING CO.
"FRANK J. OLIVER,
"Secretary-Treasurer."
